“I really love doing physics; the personal connection is the way I love to do it. If I were not in a university setting, I would have to find students to work with.”

— Charles P. Slichter